Project SEARCH update

Program Support Teachers (PST) from each secondary school have submitted student names as potential candidates for the first group of interns for September 2023. Meetings with each school team (PST, Guidance and Co-op Teachers) were held during the week of January 9th to discuss potential candidates and provide information to share with parents/guardians and students. A webpage has been created and can be accessed at Project SEARCH. The Information Night will be held on Thursday, March 2, 2023 at 6:00 pm at the Pope Francis Centre and simultaneously through Zoom.

The new Program Support Mentoring Program continued in December with learning on how to administer and score the Weschler.

Sharing of Excellence Series for December

How to Develop Self-Management Systems – participants will learn how to use self-monitoring (an evidence-based practice) to improve engagement with learning and/or to decrease challenging behaviours through teaching individuals to differentiate between appropriate and inappropriate behaviour, monitoring their own behaviour using a recording system, and reinforcing their own behaviours so as to meet goal(s).

Assistive Technology

100 additional Chromebooks are being prepared and will be delivered to PSTs; this adds to the 240 Chromebooks that have been assigned since 2021

All Lexia licenses are in use; some secondary schools will use Lexia in Semester 2 beginning in February. There are 2 training sessions with Greenfield Learning this month that will review the Lexia program with PSTs and focus on interpreting data for student success.

Helen answered questions as they arose.

Mental Health Report

Yulan Fisher-Brown, Sr. Mgr. Mental Health Initiatives/ Mental Health Leader provided the Mental Health Report.

School Mental Health Ontario (SMH-ON) and Wisdom2Action (W2A) launched #HearNowON: Student Voices on Mental Health will connect with secondary school students in Ontario on their priorities regarding mental health. 1,028 students and young people across Ontario participated through an online survey and approximately 159 young people participated through regional forums or the data analysis process.

Through the data collected, SMH-ON recommended the following:

1. Students want to learn more about Mental Health, as part of their regular school day
2. Students want their teachers to learn more about mental health so they can be a strong resource in this area
3. Students want better and clearer access to supports and services through school
4. Students want us to honour diversity and prioritize inclusion and belonging
5. Students want to be better informed about, and engaged in, mental health promotion and stigma reduction initiatives

Student Services is working with the New Teacher Induction Program to develop modules focused on various topics, including MH, Equity, Autism, Learning Disabilities, Universal Design of Learning.

SMHO has launched new MH curriculum for the Careers course that will be piloted in the second semester at 4 of our secondary schools.

Talking about Mental Illness programming ran at St. Patrick, St. Monica and St. Anne.

The sessions will address the effects of intersecting forms of discrimination and oppression through speakers' lived experience and acquired knowledge. The participants will gain a deeper understanding of core concepts around race, ability, etc., and how to practice intersectional inclusion and allyship.

A student conference will be offered to students from grades 7 to 9. The theme will be "Created in the Image of God: I Am because We Are" (Ubuntu). Details will be sent out in a Numbered Memo in mid-January.

Teachers will be able to sign up with their classes to attend three virtual classes. Teachers will also be provided with a training session and resource support.
