RE: Problems with electronic prescribing (RSA 318:47-c)

Dear Colleagues,

I purchased an annual subscription to Weno Exchange, an electronic prescription application that meets DEA requirements including verification by a third party auditor. Weno is used in California, Nevada, Ohio, Indiana, and several other states. (Reference 1)

Unfortunately NH pharmacies have been rejecting my e-scripts. Pharmacists have told me that their IT departments refuse to import my scripts because they aren't routed through Surescripts, a contractual partner. I've asked for these denials to be in writing but only one pharmacy has sent me something on paper. (Reference 5)

If you google for prescriber e-script software, you'll find many products making you feel like you're in a typical marketplace. However in nearly every case these products build on a licensed Surescripts program linking to a Surescripts exchange.

Don't be bamboozled by software marketers making health IT sound complicated. They want you to defer to their self-interested, expensive recommendations and that can have devastating consequences (RIP, Frisbie Memorial).

E-scripts are basically emails with extra structured fields. We all accept emails from many exchanges, e.g., gmail, icloud, comcast, etc. I don't care and hardly notice the exchange a person uses. So I don't think pharmacists care which exchange a doctor might use for scripts. Yet it's been pharmacists, not IT people, who've been telling me to dump Weno. Why?

My guess is, the chain pharmacy IT staff can't say their systems won't import Weno scripts because they're already doing so in other states. Thus they sucker pharmacists into fighting on their behalf.

The DEA requires pharmacy e-script applications to meet certain standards. One of those standards is the ability to "accurately and consistently import" physician prescriptions. Nothing in the law indicates that a physician's application must route scripts through a specific exchange. (Reference 2)

When a pharmacist tells me that his program can't import my legal e-script, he's admitting that his software isn't in compliance with DEA requirements. In this case, the DEA specifies that "the pharmacy must immediately cease to process controlled substance prescriptions using the application." The "IMMEDIATELY" in this clause implies that my problem is an urgent one. (Reference 3)

The FTC filed suit against Surescripts for anti-competitive behavior, such as forcing pharmacies into contracts punishing them for accepting scripts from a competing exchange. Neither the FTC nor anybody else wants a healthcare company indulging in high pressure, mafia-like tactics --especially not one sitting on all our personal prescription histories. (Reference 4)

I'm proud of my marathon-winning husband. But if he kneecapped his competition, nobody would think him a winner. In fact, talented athletes actually love a close race.

Weno tells me they've had to fight the Surescripts monopoly in other states rolling out e-prescribing mandates. You'd think the kneecapping would stop at some point, but no. I take this as further evidence that Surescripts sucks.

I'm asking the OPLC to support New Hampshire pharmacies in complying with DEA requirements in spite of the pressures they're under to pretend they can't.

Sincerely,
Kim Whitesell MD

§ 1311.200 Pharmacy responsibilities.

(a) Before initially using a pharmacy application to process controlled substance prescriptions, the pharmacy must determine that the third-party auditor or certification organization has found that the pharmacy application does the following accurately and consistently:

- (1) Import, store, and display the information required for prescriptions under § 1306.05(a) of this chapter.
- (2) Import, store, and display the indication of signing as required by § 1311.120(b)(17).
- (3) Import, store, and display the number of refills as required by § 1306.22 of this chapter.
- (4) Import, store, and verify the practitioner's digital signature, as provided in § 1311.210(c), where applicable.

Reference 3: <https://www.law.cornell.edu/cfr/text/21/1311.200>

(c) If a pharmacy application provider notifies a pharmacy that a third-party audit or certification report indicates that the application or the application provider no longer meets the requirements of this part or notifies it that the application provider has identified an issue that makes the application non-compliant, the pharmacy must immediately cease to process controlled substance prescriptions using the application.

(d) A pharmacy that receives a notification that the pharmacy application is not in compliance with the requirements of this part must not use the application to process controlled substance prescriptions until it is notified that the application is again compliant and all relevant updates to the application have been installed.

The pharmacy's duty to make sure e-script software is DEA compliant doesn't stop after the initial audit but remains continuous:

"Similar to pharmacies' other ongoing obligations, pharmacies must ensure that the applications they use to process electronic prescriptions remain compliant on an ongoing basis as well."

Hi Dr. Whitesell

I would like to take a deep dive in to the complaint that issued with OPLC ( Board of Pharmacy). In our initial email exchange and subsequent zoom meeting I was able to gather some important information but I need to have the follow questions answered in greater detail. Specifically I would like you to provide me with two separate emails. One email for Omnicare in Londonderry and one email for Walmart Newington.

Omnicare Questions:

What were the date(s) that you tried to transmit the controlled Substance prescription to Omnicare?
What was the specific response from Omnicare?
Was the pharmacy response in writing?
What was the name of the pharmacist(s) who you spoke with?
What was the prescription order ? Quantity ? Directions?
How was the issue finally resolved?

Walmart Newington Questions :

What were the date(s) that you tried to transmit the controlled Substance prescription to Walmart?
What was the specific response from Walmart?
Was the pharmacy responses in writing?
What was the name of the pharmacist(s) who you spoke with?
What was the prescription order ? Quantity ? Directions?
How was the issue finally resolved?

Thank you in advance for your cooperation

Hi Mr Queenan,

My 85 yo father is having heart surgery next week so I'm struggling to tie up loose ends before I fly to Buffalo this Saturday to next. I hope I can get you the info tomorrow.

Meanwhile, a couple hours ago I sent an e-script to Rite Aid Portsmouth on Woodbury Ave, phone 603-431-1580, fax 603-431-2914. The script was for lorazepam 0.5 mg tabs, 1/2 tab po daily #45 no refills. That's a 90 day supply for patient PC.

Rite Aid likely got an instructional fax from Weno because their IT dept hasn't allowed a connection to Weno yet. The pharmacist might be saying, WTF, at this very moment. So you have an opportunity to get the scoop on the process in real time, if you're not tied up with something else.

I'm expecting someone to phone or fax with a message that my e-script failed and I need to send a paper or voice order. Then I'll ask if they followed the instructions from Weno. They'll say they can't.

Maybe you can find out if there's a way to make this work without the hassle of a complaint. I love NH pharmacists and don't want to make any of them feel bad.

Regards,

Hi Mr Queenan,

I'm forwarding an email I sent to Mr Padmore at the NHMS naming specific infractions of NH's EPCS law, based on info I got from WENO who has dealt with this issue in other states with similar language in their regulations.

From: Dr W <whitesellmd@gmail.com>
Subject: More info about specific CVS/Omnicare violations of state and Federal law
Date: March 13, 2022 at 11:08:27 PM EDT
To: Michael Padmore <Michael.Padmore@nhms.org>

Hi Mr Padmore,

WENO sent me info about specific rule violations related to pharmacies refusing my e-scripts. They've had to fight the Surescripts monopoly in every state rolling out e-script mandates so they know more about the law than I do. They say CVS/Omnicare are violating NH law as written. Good news because amending RSAs probably takes a lot of effort. The pharmacies are also violating Federal record keeping rules defined in 21 CFR 1311.200(f) and (g), concerned with retrieving, annotating, and archiving electronic prescriptions. I count five specific violations below.

1. When CVS/Omnicare refuses to connect to WENO to import my e-scripts, they interfere with my patient's freedom to choose a pharmacy (NH RSA 318:47-C, II(b)).

When I send a script to a pharmacy that hasn't yet connected to WENO, an informational fax is automatically sent to the pharmacy from WENO. If the bottom portion of the fax is legal for dispensing (e.g., in the case of a non-controlled medication), the pharmacist can use it. If the bottom portion is not legal (e.g., the medication is controlled or there's some other issue), the pharmacist is instructed to retrieve the electronic version from WENO's free online pharmacy application. The application has a visible link to an independent audit confirming that it complies with DEA regulations.

Usually CVS/Omnicare doesn't respond to my e-scripts. But sometimes the pharmacist phones to let me know he got a fax but he can't use it to dispense.

I ask "Did you follow the instructions to get the electronic script online?"

The pharmacist says, "No we're not going to do that."

2. When CVS/Omnicare refuses to follow the faxed instructions for retrieving the electronic script, they interfere with my patient's freedom to choose a pharmacy.

Once notified by fax that an electronic prescription was sent to the pharmacy with instructions for retrieval, the fax and the electronic prescription become part of the pharmacist's record-keeping duties. WENO Online logs when the electronic prescription was accessed by the pharmacist and when notations were made.

3. CVS/Omnicare's refusal to retrieve my e-script violates Federal record keeping rules defined in 21 CFR 1311.200(g):

"When a pharmacist receives a paper or oral prescription that indicates that it was originally transmitted electronically to the pharmacy, the pharmacist must check its records to ensure that the electronic version was not received and the prescription dispensed. If both prescriptions were received, the pharmacist must mark one as void."

And in 21 CFR 1311.200(f):

"When a pharmacist fills a prescription in a manner that would require, under part 1306 of this chapter, the pharmacist to make a notation on the prescription if the prescription were a paper prescription, the pharmacist must make the same notation electronically when filling an electronic prescription and retain the annotation electronically in the prescription record or in linked files. When a prescription is received electronically, the prescription and all required annotations must be retained electronically.

4. When CVS/Omnicare pharmacists refuse to retrieve an electronic prescription for a controlled substance and insist that I replace it with an order given verbally, by fax, or by mail in spite of my admission that I have no qualifying exception and am mandated to send controlled prescriptions electronically, they violate NH's EPCS mandate.

CVS/Omnicare pharmacists have told me that they aren't required to verify whether a qualifying exception exists for written, oral, or faxed prescriptions for controlled meds. However they can't pretend an exception exists when a prescriber states that an electronic prescription is required.

5. When CVS/Omnicare, a conglomerate notorious for anti-competitive practices and responsible for degrading US independent pharmacy practice generally, recommends that I buy something compatible with their proprietary, monopolistic Surescripts system, they violate New Hampshire law by interfere with my patient's freedom to choose a pharmacy.
