(FPC), will partner to implement the Choctawhatchee Coastal Habitat Improvement Project (CCHIP)	The goals of the overall project are to improve coastal habitat, improve water quality, increase coastal resilience, educate high school students on seagrass propagation and coastal restoration techniques, and establish an "OysterCorps" team to provide opportunities for Opportunity Youth in the Choctawhatchee Bay watershed to learn valuable life skills and support the coastal restoration efforts in the Choctawhatchee watershed. This integrated set of goals are critical to reducing the impact of legacy stormwater outfalls in the Choctawhatchee watershed using an innovative approach while also providing significant opportunities for members of the watershed's disadvantaged communities.
